Lame Monkey Forces Ed Boling Resignation

The Lame Monkey Manifesto

Cartwright, who died at age 10, but that's 72 to you and me.

Welcome to the Monkey House

One from the Edituh

It seems to have become a tradition GIMPY to write this letter early in the morning as the Monkey gets put to bed, ready to go to press, as I crawl home to put myself to sleep.

For those of you who haven't seen this before, this is the LMM, the only UT satire / comedy paper yet to be found. Enjoy! It may not last a whole lot longer. Too much work, too much B.S., but it always feels that way at the end of making an issue.

For those of you who are freshman, memorize the contents of this paper and then ask an upperclassman to explain why students are so powerless on this campus. For Zen's sake, don't become a warm, apathetic sponge like too many students here already are. Wake up! This is college.

This Monkey makes history! This copy is SIXTEEN PAGES long, four more than any other Monkey in captivitiy so far. I think it's the best (#3 close behind). Read it cover-to-cover and then send money, advertising leads and kisses to our PO Box listed nearby somewhere on this page.

Much belated congratulations are due for Paul Mozingo, da other edituh, who is now trying to raise a family and such. Alot has happened in the last five months since the last edition, none the least Paul marrying Rhonda, his wife, and they (together) beginning to reproduce themselves. Egads.

As it goes, Paul is now trying to make a living (as opposed to work-which Monkey costs money). So this issue has been pretty soto a stat camera (the thing that let's us print the pretty photos you see), so assuming you're reading this, I found one within the next 24 hours that doesn't cost full retail price and made it to press. Alright!

Do you know what's on the radio late at night? I'm listening to people talking about Opposums as Pets. Shanah-nah.

Something to keep in mind: the Friends of the Lame Monkey is being formed. It is a student organization designed and cultivated to be a growing environment to plant the stump of your spinal cord in the good earth of Monkeydom. You even get a membership card. What this is about is me and a couple of dedicated Monkeyites asking you for help. You have any idea how much work this is? I'm talking me working since three weeks ago an hour a day and this last week working 5pm to 2 am every night. I'm not complaining 'cause doing this is my choice and I enjoy it-after it's done. The problem is these can't come out very regularly without less hours, or rather, more people, less individual

Help us get some life (non-syndicated, non-pink, non-trademarked, non-commercial) in this area. If there are any real people living in this desert of a city-drop us a line. If you've got something to say-write it down and drop it off. Even if it sucks, we'd still like to be getting more mail. Seriously,

Before the final paste-up week I

Lettuhs To Da Edituh

I Could Die Happy Dear Eddituhs,

After reading your March 26th issue, I was overcome by Muse of Poets, found the nearest typewriter and began to compose. I would've liked for you to peruse the orginal work, but my typing is so poor that I'll just copy it for you

An Ode to Sally & Spot

"If you knew Sally like I know her, you might not ask such bizarre questions about her dog, Spot. Sally and Spot share a special kind of relationship that most living creatures can never attain. It reminds most research scientists of the sort of symbiosis that occurs with nitrogen nodules. Might it be that Sally was born with some extraordinary gift? Does she have some incredible power over Spot? Perhaps it is Spot who keeps Sally in awe. He does have a magnificent coat; it must be all as lovely as Spot's. Sometimes I wish I were Spot. Then I could be close to Sally. I could curl at her feet while she sleeps. I could die happy.

I hope you find this little piece rewarding for you, as it was your newspaper which was its sole inspiration.

Yer pal, Paul Thurston

Dear Wise Monkey

Dears Sirs,

I need your help. My wife of 2.5 years recently left me for good. She used to beat me and force me to have sex with her. She made me shoot up with heroin and now I'm addicted. She even got our cat addicted. She used to come in once or twice a week, drunk and high and I'd beg her to leave some those eggs that Sally puts in his Alpo. money to feed the cat. She said she

Spot is a lucky dog. I wish my coat were | would for certain sexual favors. When I kept my bargain she just beat me up, shot me full of heroin and left for days. Now my cat is pregnant and I'm struggling to support her and my forced drug habit and I recently found out my wife gave me herpes and AIDS. I desperately need your help. Any money or heroin you could spare would help us so much and maybe keep me from killing myself and having to drown the kittens and eat them. They are going to be addicts as well. Can you or your readers help me? Please.

> Thanks, Timb Glaznerl

Drop & Add Checklist: Highlights of Spring 1987

and Past

Welcome to the Instructor Eval uations of Spring Quarter 1987, our latest and greatest compilation. For the uninitiated, this survey contains evaluations of over 500 classes taken during Spring Quarter, as well as those regarded as Best Ever and Worst Ever.

Every effort has been made to confirm course information and name spellings. If there are mistakes, we apologize. If you have received a poor review and are disgruntled, we invite conflicting comments for our next

Some people have argued that our efforts are pointless because our survey lacks statistical accuracy. We feel that this survey is useful not because of its flawless precision, but because it's the only information of its kind available to the students. If you would like it to be more reliable—help out, give us a call.

Thanks to all who have participated and spent massive amounts of time, most noteably Lance Bledsoe and Robert Daedalus. See ya at the end of this quarter on the UC Plaza...

How To Use This Information:

1. The first number next to the Instructor's name is the total number of responses we had regarding that prof. Remember, the fewer people surveyed, the more unreliable his/her evaluation.

2. The next number is the Grade Point Average of the Instructor. The Instructors were graded on a scale of A-F, where 'A' is 4 and 'F' is 0. The total number of these 'quality points' is divided by the total number of responses, much like the way your own GPA is figured.

3. The +, -, x symbols compare this quarter's GPA to last quarter ('+' = Improvement, '-' = Better last quarter, x = no change).

4. The icon graphically represents an Instructor's performance (0-.75 Boom!; .76-1.5 Bird; 1.6-2.5 Scale; 2.6-3.5 Girl; 3.6-4.0 Beer).

5. A Bullet (•) preceding an Instructor's name means we could not confirm their teaching a class.

6. Comments do not necessarily reflect the views of publisher, etc.

7. Enjoy.

I'm Sick

I'm sick of the black dude who masturbates in public for girls on the corner of 12th and Laurel

I'm sick of fat in-bred cops who snicker at girls, who are tired of looking at strange penises for breakfast, as if to say "educated women deserve it"

I'm sick of people who call black men dudes and white dudes guys and french movies flicks and American films reality

I'm sick of Hollywoodites who make money off the Vietnam filmed in South America with Hollywood brats

and catsup for blood telling us what's real and what's not and everyone believing it

I'm sick of New Yorkers who don't believe that Iowa exists
when most of them come from there anyway
and trend mongers from the West Coast
who don't remember anything prior to 1982
and think that everyone except themselves is out of it

I'm sick of people who confuse Ollie North's lies with truth and perceive Donna Rice as nice and can't tell you a thing about Harvey Milk or Martin Luther King

I'm sick of schmucks who sneak aid to the Contras and sneaky aides who slither for Reagan and AIDS killing people like nats

I'm sick of people making disease instead of love following trends instead of their hearts making money instead of friends and everyone, everywhere saying no to all the wrong things

I'm sick of the 40-year-olds who tell us to drink bottled water and eat French cheese that looks and feels like snot

and who think we really care whether they have it all or not

I'm sick of the fact that an entire black community dwells just east of Magnolia and whites in Knoxville don't even know it

I'm sick of segregation and discrimination and sexism and Wall Street

I'm sick of longing for the beach and the Northern Lights where crabs walk backwards for centuries and God does MTV in the sky

I'm sick of being sick I can't wait for the 80's to end

God:

That Good Natured Ole' Tyrant

Doug Collins
The Lame Monkey Manifesto

Do you know any fundamentalist Christians? If you do, since they would not (or maybe could not) read the Lame Monkey Manifesto, please read this to them and write down any intelligible response.

I would like to pose a question to the fundies of the world. For the sake of argument, I offer four postulates with which I am sure they will agree:

Postulate 1: God exists.

Postulate 1: God exists.
Postulate 2: God is omnipotent.
Postulate 3: God is omniscient.

Postulate 3: God is omniscient.
Postulate 4: God is omnibenovolent.

Now, given these postulates, how is it that there is evil in the world?

Now don't give me any drivel about higher good or free will. In the first place, we've already postulated omnipotence and omniscience.

"He said, 'Vote Republican'!"

Therefore God, if he chooses, can combine higher good, free will and the absence of evil. If God is omnibenevolent, then he must so choose. For those to whom these conclusions are not intuitively obvious, let us elucidate.

Omnipotent means all-powerful. An omnipotent God can do anything. He can create the universe, make Michelob Classic Dark from water or make pi equal to three. There is nothing beyond the scope of His power (much like a UTTM Administrator).

Filling Facts

CHECKING YOUR BRA FOR A PROPER FIT

Notice any bulges over the front or sides of your bra? Maybe you've got a cup that's too small—or a bra band that's too tight. A "rule of thumb" for telling whether or not your bra band fits correctly is: try to slip your thumb underneath it. If ou can do so comfortably t

Omniscient means all-knowing. An omniscient God knows everything. He knows that when he creates the universe that many years later I would yearn for the power to create Michelob Classic Dark from water. Pi can equal twelve for all I care.

Combine these two attributes of God. Not only can God do anything, but he knows all of the results of anything He does. Therefore, He must have intended that everything that has happened, should have happened. "As it was in the beginning, so it is now, and ever shall be." We are no more free to choose the path that God knows we will follow than water is free to choose to run downhill. From this it is plain to see that God did, in fact, elect Ronnie Reagan to the Presidency. Which casts doubt on our last postulate, omnibenevolence.

If God is truly omnibenevolent, then there should be no evil in the world. He has no need to test us, for he already knows our strengths and weaknesses.

Hollywood Glamour?

He has no need to purify us in the fires of adversity, for He could have made us from the purest Mississippi mud.

Therefore, either I am wrong in seeing evil (godless Communism, murderous Contras), or God is lacking one of the three traditional postulates or Postulate 1 is incorrect. One of the following must be true:

- 1. God does not exist;
- 2. God cannot do everything;
- 3. God does not know everything;
- 4. God is a liar and a murderer, no better than any other powerful tyrant.

Which do you believe?

Typhoid Mary

The Sponge Pagoda

Christoper Gray The Lame Monkey Manifesto

Hey y'all. My name is Mary. I used to work for the Detroit Public Schools System, but my home has always bin Knoxville, Tennessee wore I grew up. I left that job up north when all the lil'o kiddies died of typhoid and I got a job with the Federal Government. Said they'd been watching me a bit and I had talent, they did. I said, "Hell, I ain't that great ova cook." But they didn't want me to cook.

I 'member the day well. It was right after a couple 'o downright nasty parents from the Pee-Tee-Aaaa wore bitchin and complain'n that I had sumthing to do with their children up and dying. They said I wuz just like a cook they had back in the nineteen hundreds, one a Miss Mary Mellon who gave all their kids the pox or something like about that. Said they locked her up for murder and that they'd be a getting me too. Damn do-gooders, thinking they can make their little drug freaking kiddies go straight by locking up the school cook. Sakes alive! Parents are so god blame strange now-a-days.

A man in a grey flannel suit and mirrerd sunglasses and looking perty official interupted, took me aside and said he was sent to offer me a position in esspion-age. He said the Russkies wore up to no good and Uncle Sam needed me to save the world. I thought he was crazy. He said I'd be making $20,000 a year and see the world and I said, "Brother, you've got yourself a cook," and that's when they sent me off to The Farm to learn to be a memory napkin.

I dunt know why they call it a farm. There ain't no horsees or chickuns or pigs or nuthin like you'd find on a real farm. All they got is big, cow-eatin, testtost-er-one, go-rill-e-ah men with guns and bombs and piana wire all sneaking round and breakin thangs. I kept asking where the kitch'un was, but they'd wouldn't let me do a damn thing. All they wanted me to do was to shoot eleephant guns and the like. I said, "Hell, I ain't no Mae Bell running around shooting up the wild west," and they just smiled and told me to live with it until I met Dr. Merk-o-vitch.

Dr. Bernie Merkovitch was a short, bald-like man with a fore-an accent. He told me I had talent and I said, "Doctor, how the hell do you know? They haven't let me touch a pan since ah got here," 'cause I was angry about it. He said ev-thing was alright and he just wanted to teach me a few things which would make me a better cook. Or sumthing.

That's when my classes began. That's wore I learned how to squint my eyes, wiggle my nose and imagine Elvis breakin his gee-tar. He said that if I did it just right, I mean in just the best ah ways, then I could stop people from thinking thangs. I'd be a memory napkin and could soak up people's thoughts just like the quicker-picker-upper paper towel on T.V. He said that once I get really good then I can hold up coffee cups and thangs just like the paper towel does even when wet. Only I'd be usin' mah brain.

I liked this idea.

Dr. Merkovitch sat me down one day and said I had a gift.

'Thanks, Doc, but I don't take gifts from men I work fer," I said.

"No," he said. "No, you've already got the gift. You wore barn with it. Ye might say God gave it to you.'

I don't like no one, not even a Gover'ment man to blaspheme.

"What ya mean, Doc?"

"Mary," he said. "Mary, did you like those kiddies you cooked for up in Detroit?

"Why shure, Doc. They wore average kids."
"Are you sure, Mary? This is very important.'

Doc, ya know these kids nowadays. All they do is watch that Emm-TV and spin on their heads. Sometimes I think they shake somethang loose. Sometimes I think what little shits and wastes they are, just eatin' and shittin' and playing thar music and riding skateboards. They don't care about a thing. I tell them and tell them and ask them nicely, and what do they do? What do they do!?'

What, Mary?

They still leave thar bubble gum on their lunch trays, that's what. Doc, you ever see what happens to bubble gum on trays when it goes through the dish

No, Mary."

"It goes all over and sticks to ever'thang, that's what it does!'

"You don't say?," he said.

"Yes," I said.

"Mary, I think that you gave all those tikes typhoid fever 'cause you were angry with 'em. Mary, you're what we call a sea-lect-ive path-o-genic carrier and you give people you don't like the typhoid fever. We're not sure how people like you do it, Mary, but believe me when I tell you it's a very rare gift. Mary, you killed all those kids. Killed them dead.'

I got real quite there for a minute. Those Pee-Tee-Aaa parents wore right. I did kill all those kids. I gave them the

"What happens is that they git rashes, sahr throat and their guts swell up until they die. It's slow and very painful," he said.

Were those parents really goin to lock me up? Was I a wanted crim-i-nal?

"Now we think that, with practice, you can control the gestation and terminal progession of the disease, but right now we think your ability to aim is already fairly developed.'

"Doc, you mean to say I killed all those kiddies up in Detroit?

"Yes, Mary. You feelin' guilty?" "Shucks no. I'd do it again, the little bastards," and Dr. Bernie Merkovitch and I became fast friends.

It was about this time I began to suspect they didn't want me to cook fer

During the flight I practized my research fellas died of cardiac arrest, car memory napkin techniques by makin the stewardess forgit what drinks ev-one wanted, then I gave two yankees in flowered shirts the fever. I was a little scared. I had never takin a plane trip before.

I opened my vanilla envelope marked "Top Secret". I read what was

"Mary, your mission, should you choose to accept it, is to recover the Hyper Accelerator Lazer from the Japanese. It was stolen from our Dangerous Weapons Facility in Bailey Falls, West Virginia. Good luck.'

I read all the other thangs in the envelope. Seemed like after it was Shoo-Tu, Japan I was ready for action. designed and they'd built one, all the wrecks, carbon and monoxide poisoning. Guess it don't pay if you're too smart about certain things.

It seems some higher up got a thinking that this was too dangerous a thing to actually have 'cause then the enemy might steal it, so the Good Idea was to have just one and not let anyone know about it. If the enemy got one on thar own, we had one too, in storage all ready to make more. Only ours got took by little yellar people and we needed it back 'fore they passed it on to the Russkies. That's why I was on that plane to A-Shoo-Too.

Woo, an international arms merchant and god fer-saken bad guy, so I thought I'd pay him a social call as soon as I arrived.

Thar's just one real interesting thing I saw stepping off into a fer-an country like this. I was in the airport gift shop gettin some postcards to mail to those Pee-Tee-Aaa mommies, when next to the Tee-shirts I saw something most interesting. It was a little Japanese house made of sponge. It was a sponge pagoda. It got me a thinkin, so I bought one.

Sometimes if yer listening to the radio or looking at some Pic-asso or Van Gobi sort of painting, all of a sudden-like you see something about the world that you never saw before. That's what I felt when I saw that sponge pagoda. It was lime green. It had a plass-tic wrapper.

I got a taxi-cab to Hee-Ra-Woo'z house outside of town, rang the bell and went on in. A fat summa-wrestler type said I couldn't see him, and I got real pissed and told him, "Listen, fat boy, you just tell Mister Woo that he's in a heap of trouble with the U.S. of A. and if he don't see me now, I'm gonna come back later and slap him redder than a baboon's arse." I was fer-ee-ous. Atheeist little commie symps give me the willies.

He went and left for a minute to talk with some other silly baboon-type and then said "Zo zorry, Miss. Pleez dis weh," with his crazy fer-an accent.

Next thing ya know I was sitting in front of Charlie Chan hisself. He wore his white suit and sat behind a big desk trying to look like some Shee-cog-o Mafee-o-so. He looked like right out of a Kung-Foo drive-in movie.

"What is so vunny, Miss? I am a very busy mahn and dohn't have much time."

"Darn tootin' you don't have much time, buster," and I slipped him the 36 hour fever. "You're gonna regret ever having heard of lazer thangs, big boy."

"What do you wahnt. I am honest exportuh," he lied.

To Gimpy, Stay Sharp Euris

I was imagining Elvis playing his Gee-tar.

"If you wahnt money, we cahn deal. But first, what have you to deal with?," he said.

Elvis was a strumming a fatal chord.

"You remember that drink you just had, Woo boy?," and the Gee-tar snapped right in two.

"No...wait...yeahus. That drink I just had," soaked the napkin.

"It was poisun! You'll die a slow and herrible death unless I get the Hyper Accelerator. If ya play dirty, you don't get no antidote. You don't give me the Lazer and the design plans fer it and you don't get no antidote. Get the picture, He Rah?"

He then called me a whole mess of bad things, but I didn't care none. When you're an international ess-pion-age agent, ya expect it.

I went to my hotel and laid round the swimmun pool gazing at some good 'ole boys from America doing laps, when old Woo got a belly-aching and gave me a call. Typhoid fever is a great disease.

"You have antidohte?," he asked.

"You have antidohte?," he asked.
"Yep, I have the antidote," I lied.

"O.K., we deal. Meet me at Public Health Museum in an hour and bring antidote."

Hoor-ay!, I thought. Or rather Hee-Rah!...Woo! I had this sucker licked.

A-Shoo-Tu has a Public Health Musuem wore all the great doktors un dentists and the like have little wax statue shrines devoted to thar past medical greatness. Woo hadn't shown up yet, so I had me a look about. There was a life size figure of Louis Pasteur and Dr. Jonas Salk. There was a wax statue of a Japanese Samauri-Doc dressed up like a Sho-gun with a sward in one hand and a test tube in the other. And darned if in one corner there wern't a life size wax statue of the King himself, all in white and holding his geetar. 'Cording to the plaque on the wall I was reading, Elvis' foundation gave a lot of money to study radiation after the

Out of the dimly lit darkness I heard:

"Are voo, Mary?"

"Are voo, Woo?," I asked back.

"Did voo bring antidohte?," he asked.

"You bring the toys, Woo?"

"Here is da Lasuh and hear uh the secret plans," he said and set down on the ground a big black briefcase, opened it pulled out what my gun coach called a Browning 9mm auto pistol, only it had a bunch of tubes un wares hanging out of it.

"Does it werk, Woo?," I asked.

"Of caurse," and he pointed the gun at Louis Pasteur, pulled the trigger and a purple beam of light flew accross the room and and turned poor Louis to a molten pile of steamed cheese. It was like out of a God-zila movie.

like out of a God-zila movie.

"Vury good, Woo," I said and picked up the plastic folder with a wax seal that said "Top Secret". Inside wer the plans for the Hyperaccelerator. It was still sealed so I was shure it was the only copy.

Woo put the gun back in the case, closed her up and slid it over to wore I stood "Alright, Woo. Good doin' business with ya. See ya 'round', and I tossed him an unmarked bottle of aspirin.

"Vait, Mary. "Vhy now have I da antidohte, vhy should let I you leave?"

He was speaking fore-an gibberish, but I knew what he meant.

"Deal's a deal, Woo. Don't be no God-blame turncoat."

He just leaned back on his white soled shoes and said "Take Her."

From nowhere itself appeared a Ninjar dressed all in black and waving a huge sam-or-ai sward and moving towards me. I tried to open the briefcase, but it was locked!

I dove behind Dr. Jonas Salk as the sward came down a cleaved his head in two. I had but once chance left. I started humming Jail House Rock.

Went to a party at the County Jail!

The Nin-jar was right on top of me. I slid round the side and kicked Nin-jar in the jewels. I had to con-cen-trate.

The Prison Band was There and They Began to Wail!

He grunted and swung round and sliced Salk in two at the waist.

The band was Jumping and Began to Swing!

I ran out from behind Salk's torn body and lept behind the wax statue of Elvis. Concentrate!

You Should have Heard that Jailbird Sing!

The Nin-jar's sward came down on Elvis splitting him in two and snapping his gee-tar to matches. My napkin was on fire!

Let's Rock! Everybody, Let's Rock!

Using my napkin powers, I grabbed the was samauri-scient's sward from accross the room and slung it at the Ninjar man. "Look, Woo! No hands!," I screamed. The Nin-jar was bedazzled and raised his sword just in the nick off time to turn my first swing.

All over the whole cell block!

I swung it at him agin and agin - and thar it floated in midair! He had nothing to swing at hisself!

Dancing to the Jailhouse Rock!

My sword slid home right through his chest and stuck him to the dietry aids display. I grabbed the briefcase and took off

Dancing to the Jailhouse Rock!

I was on the plane back to the States that I began to think about this whole thing. I got out my lime-green sponge pagoda and sat it down on my pull-down air-o-plane lunch tray.

I could go back to the Federal Government a hero, but then, now maybe I'm just a bit too smart about this Laser thing and I'll end up like the research fellers. I ain't stupid.

Ya know, people are a lot like sponge pagodas. They usually just sit wore they wore put by fate and soak up all sorts of troubles in their puddles of upsetedness. 'Fore long you find youself ninety years old and you've bin unhappy the whole time. Because you've just soaked it in and looked to the next day for things to get better. They never do.

Now you may think it's a bit odd for this 'ole maid to be philozophizing upon a sponge pagoda and all and I don't blame ya none. It sure beats shaving your head or readin romance novels. I sat around near all my life 'fore Merkovitch and the boys woke me up and got me thinkin: still things ain't any better now, they're just different.

I'm getting off this plane in San Fran and hitchin to Canada, then I don't know what. But one thangs for sure: I've got the Fever, the Laser and the Memory Napkin. I ain't soaking up no more.

Dr. Torch Screw The Lame Monkey Manifesto

I am tired of paying the University of Tennessee to NOT provide parking! Did you realize that a major portion of the budget for the S.S. of UT (Safety and Security, that is) comes from parking tickets? Is it any wonder that the Administrators of Safety and Security (let's call them A.S.S.es) do not try their utmost to solve the chronic parking shortage? Ample parking would cost them money! What we need to do is provide a counter-incentive. No, not rampant violence in the streets (not yet, anyway). Our legislature for this wonderful State of Tennessee has provided us with a peaceful weapon, a weapon that strikes where their blood runs deepest orange—their pocketbook!

"I Like Driving in Circles"

Tennessee Code Annotated Section 4-507 et. seq. (which means "and following") provides that students who desire a hearing on any number of things, including parking tickets, may ask for an A.P.A. (Administrative have a hearing in accordance with the provisions of T.C.A. sections 4-514 through 4-526. This hearing is NOT the Kangaroo court which has for years been forced upon us by the A.S.S.es, but is a trial-type hearing before an impartial hearing examiner. More important than the fairness of the trial (because admit it, most of you are guilty as sin) is the fact that these hearings cost the A.S.S.es money. Do you start to get the picture?

"Books Don't Balance! Write more tickets!"

That's right, kids. If everyone requests one of these hearings, then the A.S.S.es will no longer be making money by not providing parking, they will be losing money. Since we know that money is what makes the marble shine, and shiny marble is dear to the

A.S.S.es, we can conclude that anything which costs money will make the A.S.S.es upset. This is what I mean by a counterincentive. So, fellow students, if you would like to end the incentive for maintaining the current parking shortage, when you get a ticket (and you will, you ba-a-a-d student) DON'T SIGN ANYTHING AT ALL and Procedures Act) hearing. It doesn't cost you anything, they won't tell you about it and it's time we made the A.S.S.es

I would like to thank Richard Pope for his help with the research for this article. I, however, will remain completely anonymous, so that I may continue my efforts and remain in your loyal service.

> I wonder why the current Student Government has not persued this issue? Is this too hot for even them to touch? Is there more at work than a few beurocrats who don't want to see the problem? Is there anything that can be bought for the Student's good and not just UT's image? Do I smell the rank odor of cowardice? Surely not, but we shall see.

Top Theories Why the UT Parking Problem Has Not Yet Been Solved

Belief that backstabbing, cutthroat competition for parking spaces every day will breed good politicians and televangelists for the future.

Parking spaces take up valuable land that could be better used for huge, grotesque pieces of artwork.

A large, on campus parking lot might dash all hopes for a future alumni golf course, where the annual "Jack Reese - Big Orange Screw Open" will be held.

Calculations show that the weight from exactly one more parking lot full of cars would cause the campus to be sucked down into the loins of a huge underground cave.

Fear of unjustly being forever branded a popular administration.

Lame Monkey Drugs Columnist

It seems my last article raised something of a brew (Ha Ha). I brew-haha-ed myself. But if there was anyone confused about my article or the ideas expressed in it, I take this time now to clear things up.

To begin with, there is no such thing as limited freedom. Nothing says that to from reality. Television is an escape be free you have to do everything available, but to be free you have to do whatever you truly want. Timothy Leary gave us the Code of Freedom which says "I. I will not interfere with another person's right to turn on. II. I will not force or subvert anyone into turning on." So, as long as my freedom doesn't interfere with your freedom, all is permitted.

Secondly, the hippies of the 60's were not drugged up freaks having promiscuous sex, but turned on, tuned in flower children sharing free love. The idea that they didn't or don't care about themselves or the country is ludicrous. The opposite is the case. Those hippies were always the protestants. Whether it was the war, nuclear weapons or civil rights, they were and are the active advocates of personal and public freedom, because freedom is something they have whole-heartedly felt.

Thirdly, drugs are not an escape from reality, drugs are a harsh confrontation with reality. It's not too much escapism that freaks people out on drugs, but too much reality for a limited person to handle. There is nothing harder than facing the world and your life as it is forced upon you by your drug experience. Those pioneers in this area and those advocates like Leary and Ram Das and others were the bravest men and women of all. They stood against all of society. They lost jobs, friends, and yes, their lives for this great new freedom.

This freedom isn't for everyone, but I would stop someone from smoking a cigarette before I would stop someone from smoking marijuana. No one's advocating addiction or abuse, but only the sacramental use of mind-expanding drugs. A drug is a teacher. You learn a lesson about life or reality from it, then you put it away. I think if every reasonably stable person in America was given LSD at least once, it would make such sweeping changes for the good in our society that it would be overwhelming. But then people would become free and know true freedom and begin to question government and politicians and we'd have a government for the people and by the people and that just wouldn't do.

What happened to Love-Ins? What happened to Black Power? What happened to radical freedom? America is wimping out.

How Condoms Can Save Your Eternal Soul

Eric Evers Lame Monkey Scientific Advisor

UT has a growing problem— Soul stealing. Succubi (female) and incubi (male) have been falling on UT students at an unusual rate this quarter. And are they ever heavy. Succubi are daemons in female form who are out to steal souls through sexual intercourse. The first case of AIDS was caught by a priest in Africa who broke his celibacy vows to have relations with a succubus! These daemons are not to be taken lightly men, they can suck your soul right out of your member during one night of passion. But a condom can protect your soul from being stolen! Succubi are usually quite beautiful, alluring, financially well off, and eager to please. And ladies, all of these qualities apply to incubi and they are thought to outnumber female succubi 9

Two of the "nicest" soul stealers around Knoxville are a brother and sister (it is possible that they are more closely related than siblings) known as Sahr and Max. Included with this article is an artist's rendering of one of the forms Sahr has been seen to take.

According to many Church Fathers, an incubus is an angel who fell because of lust for women. Essentially the incubus is a lewd demon or goblin who seeks sexual intercourse with women. When associated with one particular witch or sorcerer, both incubus and succubus are known as magistellus, or familiar. And there was evidence that dreams seeking to please you. Most demons must have felt some physical pleasure in that they were attracted to women with beautiful hair (compare I Corinthians xi. 10, where angelos are incubus). Some later deamonologists held that only the lowest order of devils functioned as incubi.

Both the legends of the werewolf and the vampire are related to incubi. Because incubi can perform their acts through the animation of the dead people or animals, often a combination is constructed leading to the picture of the devil with goat's hooves and also the werewolves, minotaurs, centaurs, mermaids and even the unicorn. Also because daemons are another species, it is considered bestiality to have relations with them.

Somehow it is thought a succubus can store semen and then can change to a incubus to impregnate a woman. The child is born of man and woman, a deamon can not personally sire a child. The reason they have such an interest in manipulating the gene pool of Homosapiens is currently the focus of a great deal of research. If you have a good theory about why daemons would
